WHEREAS, There are approximately 2,200,000 persons with disabilities residing in the State of Illinois, most of whom need assistive technology for daily living, education, independence, and employment; and

WHEREAS, A great number of persons with disabilities in Illinois will purchase assistive technology with manufacturing defects or deceptive warranty terms, thereby diminishing their educational and employment opportunities and increasing their dependence upon federal and State support and forcing them to unnecessarily rely upon community based resources and family members for financial support and daily living assistance; and

WHEREAS, The Assistive Technology Evaluation and Training Centers Act was enacted by the 90th General Assembly to ensure that persons with disabilities obtain comprehensive services regarding assistive technology including (i) comprehensive individual evaluations for a broad range of assistive technology needs for persons with all types of disabilities for use in the home, at school, in employment, and in the community, and (ii) training regarding assistive technology options available to the consumer and training in the proper use of assistive technology; therefore, be it
