Speaker Lang: "The House will be in order. Members will be in their chairs. We shall be led in prayer today by Lee Crawford, the pastor of the Cathedral of Praise Christian Center in Springfield. Members and guests are asked to refrain from starting their laptops, turn off cell phones, and rise for the Invocation and Pledge of Allegiance. Pastor Crawford."

Pastor Crawford: "Let us pray. Gracious and most sovereign God, we humbly approach Your throne of grace that Your blessing will be upon this august Assembly, upon the Speaker of this House, all of his Leaders, all of his Members, and all of their families. Father, we pray that they will not forget their laws. Today, I pray they allow their hearts to keep Your commandments that they would on this day be men and women of Your mercy and of Your kindness, that they shut out and disallow all hatred and selfishness, that they be men and women of Your truth not allowing any deliberate hypocrisy and falsehoods. I pray that they would lean on trust and walk in total confidence in You with all of their hearts and all of their minds, that they not rely on their own insight and understanding, that they in all of their ways they would know, recognize, and acknowledge You as the director of their paths and the giver of their wisdom, that they will not be wise in their own eyes, but, oh God, that they would reverently fear, worship, and gift themselves unto You. This day we pray in your Son's name, Amen."

'no'. The 'ayes' have it. And the Adjournment Resolution is adopted. Ladies and Gentlemen, we need some order in the chamber. The Members will rise. The Chair recognizes Representative Pritchard."

Pritchard: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Ten years ago on this date a tragic event occurred on the campus of Northern Illinois University. By a standard of that time of innocence and the event really created a lot of shock. The tragic loss of five lives was international news. Today, such events with the loss of far more lives is all too common. While NIU had an emergency plan, it had been... it had not been tested. Yet, campus and city police, county Sheriff's department, fire and emergency medical responders reacted in a coordinated fashion. Kishwaukee community hospitals, nurses, doctors, and other medical personnel who were not scheduled for duty on that day rushed to the hospital to help in the tragedy. Hospital staff were nearly overwhelmed by the crush of family members, classmates, and news media seeking information. Yet they managed to serve everyone's interests with compassion and professionalism. Those who responded, according to DeKalb Deputy Fire Chief Jeff McMaster, went through all stages of grieving: disbelief, bartering, denial, and anger. Faced with the worst tragedy in NIU's history, President John Peters was adamant from the outset that NIU will not be defined by this tragedy, and it hasn't been. Over the past decade, NIU has turned its focus from questioning how and why something so terrible could happen, to affirming the importance of living bravely and meaningfully and recognizing the power of love. 'We have moved forward, together forward,' he said. A decade after this senseless event, NIU acting President Lisa Freemond said recently, and I quote, 'We think of those who still bear the scars of injury to body, mind, and spirit. Ten years... NIU students are the community students and NIU employees are neighbors. Ten years later, we have learned that healing is a unique journey for every individual and that shared experience builds strong bonds. And a decade after our tragedy, we celebrate the gift of perspective. We know what is important, and what is not.' NIU Police Commander Donald Rodman who was on the scene that day said, 'It's an incident that has refined me, it hasn't defined me. I want to get better, to grow, and to help others grow better and be better.' In this chamber, hangs a picture over on our right side of our 16th President, who said on another sad occasion and I paraphrase that while we little note nor long remember what is said, we can never forget who they were. It is for us the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they have thus far so nobly advanced that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain. Yes, we shall not forget the promising lives and careers of Ryanne Mace of Carpentersville, who was studying psychology; Gayle Dubowski of Carol Stream studying anthropology; Catalina Garcia of Cicero and Julianna Gehant of Mendota, who were studying elementary education; and Daniel Parmenter of Westchester, a student of finance. This past Sunday, five more scholarships were presented to NIU students who demonstrated the qualities of those who lost their lives: Qualities of character, motivation, inspiration, academic success, community service, perseverance, and integrity. The NIU community is remembering today and wreaths are being laid on the memorial garden by Cole Hall, a building that has been reconstituted and a museum that sits on its hallowed ground. I ask the Body to pause at 3:06 this afternoon to remember the lives of those students and to say a prayer of healing for all those who still bear the scars of February 14, 2008. On this Christian religious holiday of Ash Wednesday as Christians prepare to appreciate the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ, I ask for a moment of silence to also remember the lives of Rynne, Gayle, Catalina, Julianna, and Daniel. And dedicate ourselves to their values of integrity, hard work, serving, inspiring, and helping others, and personal sacrifice. Thank you for these moments of reflection."

Speaker Lang: "Body will take a small moment of silence. Thank you, Mr. Pritchard. The Members will remain standing. The Chair recognizes Representative Mah."

Mah: "Yesterday at approximately 2:00 in the afternoon, Chicago Police Officer Commander Paul R. Bauer, a constituent in the 2nd District, lost his life in the line of duty while pursuing a suspect at the James R. Thompson Center. Commander Bauer never hesitated for a moment before springing into action when he received word of a fleeing suspect as a pursuit was taking place into the Thompson Center. He leapt into action because nothing was more important to him than protecting the residents of the city that he loved. Prior to leading the near north 18th District, Commander Bauer served as a lieutenant in the 12th District, which covers the Pilsen neighborhood in my district. He also served as a Commander of the mounted unit, and he was about two years away from retirement. Commander Bauer embodied the best of the Chicago Police Department. A commitment to community, a dedication to the safety and security of the residents who call our city home, and a willingness to always go above and beyond the call of duty. He was well respected and widely admired by his colleagues and the community he served. Commander Bauer leaves behind a young daughter and a wife with whom he was planning to celebrate an anniversary this coming weekend. As the community grieves, we should focus on remembering the ultimate sacrifice Commander Bauer and his family has made for the safety of our community. A Resolution will be forthcoming and I ask that all Members of this Body sign onto it. At this moment, I respectfully ask for a moment of silence in remembrance of Commander Paul R. Bauer of the Chicago Police Department."

them in our prayers. Two weeks ago, we met in this chamber to discuss the state of our state. I said then and I repeat today, we are in a state of readiness, ready to leverage Illinois' many natural advantages – our wonderful people, our location, our transportation network, our diverse resources – to become the economic powerhouse of the Midwest. To fulfill that mission is to serve the best interests of everyone in our state. If our economy rises, everyone rises with it. Our businesses grow and create more jobs. Our family incomes rise. Our young have more opportunities to learn and earn. Our services to our citizens expand. Our taxes then go down. Our quality of life will go up. We can make all this happen. But we must abandon Illinois' fiscal status quo, and take steps to make tax-spenders more accountable to taxpayers. We must enact structural reforms that allow us to be as competitive as we need to be, so we can be as compassionate as we want to be. And make no mistake, we are in a competition and the states around us are winning at our expense. They have out-legislated us, and now, they outgrowin' us. Manufacturing jobs, manufacturing jobs, many of which go to union workers, are up 110,000 in Indiana over the last eight years. While manufacturing jobs in Illinois are up only 8,000 in that same time period. Outrageous. We're twice the size of Indiana. And in just the last year alone, just in the past year, private sector union jobs are up 36,000 in Wisconsin. Think about that, 36,000 increase in Union jobs. And over in Michigan, Union jobs are up 47,000 in just the past year. In Illinois, in the past year, we've lost 9,000 union jobs. Many factory workers in other states are now out-earning our brothers and sisters here in Illinois. We can't let this happen to our hard-working families. It is time to get back in the race. Low growth and expensive bureaucracy are devastating to our working families. They reduce Illinoisans' net take home pay. They rob us of our ability to invest in education, human services, public safety, and infrastructure. They constrain our economic growth, our tax base, and our wage rates. Our Fiscal Year 19 budget sets out to make the structural reforms that will get us moving in the right direction. It reduces government expense but not customer service. It shifts responsibility for the cost of services to the people who buy those services. And it recognizes that we will never have balanced budgets if government grows faster than our economy. These are the priorities we've set for the next fiscal year and beyond. They put a stop to the unsustainable growth in our pension and health care costs, halt and reverse the advance in taxes, and restore emphasis on investments in education, human services, public safety, and infrastructure. Our reforms must begin with pensions and employee group health expenses. They now consume more than 25 cents of every dollar the state spends, and they grow faster than you can raise taxes, and we can grow the economy. In Fiscal Year 18, we spent more of our budget in these two categories than we spent on K-12 education. The simple truth is this: We have to change the way we manage pension costs and group health expenses. If we don't, our finances will continue to deteriorate, our economy will remain sluggish and our tax burdens will stay high and keep rising. Our Fiscal Year 19 budget addresses this problem head on, and creates a surplus that we can use to pay down some of our debt. The key reforms have to do with accountability. We need to move pension costs to people who do the buying, and make them responsible for the paying, too. If we do this realignment, we can eliminate the $2 billion deficit in the budget you passed last summer, we can avoid new taxes, we can fund top priorities, and we can start the long process of paying down our bill backlog with cash instead of credit. But we should also do something that will really make the economy grow faster, that will really make the Amazons and Apples of the world take notice. We should take the next big step, and do what taxpayers have urged us to do for more than a decade: And that is enact comprehensive pension reform, and give Illinois taxpayers a $1 billion tax cut. They deserve it, the people of Illinois deserve it, and they need it. This is the kind of financial accountability that Illinois taxpayers expect. It is time we lived up to their expectations. When Diane and I moved into the Governor's Mansion in 2015, we noticed that every light was turned on in the building. I don't know about you, but I was raised that if you left a room on and didn't shut out the lights, if you left a room and you didn't turn them off, you got in trouble. You had to put a nickel in the jar or maybe worse. Of course, when we got there, it led us to ask what was the utility bill was for the mansion. It took two weeks to track down, through the bureaucracy, who actually got the bill inside the government bureaucracy. And we learned that the utility cost for the Illinois taxpayers, for that mansion, is $100,000 per year. Hello. A building nobody was really living in. Outrageous. We immediately changed the energy practices, put in energy conservation policies, and cut the bill substantially. My point of this story is this: If you separate the payment from accountability, there's no accountability. People don't question the expense, they just pay it. This story illustrates what is wrong with pension and group health expenses. In our system, the state gets pension bills and just pays the tab. Our budget proposal shifts costs closer to home, so people can question the expenses and deal with them more directly. Now, under the current system, they have no incentive to manage costs because the state picks them up no matter what they are. When people are responsible for paying the bill, there will be plenty of incentive to lower the costs. We will ask school districts to begin sharing the cost of their own normal cost pensions. We'll phase in the shift over four years - in 25 percent increments per year - and give schools, and this is critically important, give schools and local governments the tools they need to more than offset the costs. That's critical. The tools include increased education funding, the power to dissolve or consolidate units of local government, and more flexibility in contracting, bidding, and sharing services. As a matter of fairness, the Chicago Public Schools will get the same offsets as all other school districts in the state, including its portion of the increase under the new funding formula. But recognizing that CPS got to keep the benefits of its special block grant in the base of our new funding formula, we propose that CPS absorb its normal pension costs as it did before last year. We will ask universities to pay their pension costs - also phased in over four years - and to pick up their health care costs with offset tools that include an additional $205 million in appropriations in Fiscal Year 19. These shifts will save the state $696 million this year. We recommend right-sizing employee health insurance plans so that government compensation is more in line with what taxpayers have who are paying for it. Today, we pay almost 90 percent of the premiums for government employee health insurance policies that are way more expensive than plans in the private sector. State government needs to do what every employer in Illinois has already done over the last 10 years: Get its health care costs under control. Taxpayers shouldn't have to pay for government health insurance policies that are richer than ones they can afford for themselves. It's not fair. If we legislate group health insurance changes the way the Massachusetts legislature has already done, we can save Illinois taxpayers $470 million in general revenue funds this year, and $560 million in all funds. We also need to reduce workers' compensation insurance costs. They are the highest in the Midwest, and they are pushing out our manufacturers. Business leaves the state to escape them or won't come to Illinois, in order to avoid them. It's one of the reasons we are losing business and population to the states around our borders. If we reduce our rate to the national average, businesses as well as local governments will benefit from lower costs, and we will create tens of thousands of new jobs over time. Not only would we have faster economic growth that would help keep our budgets balanced, but taxpayers would directly save tens of millions of dollars in lower government costs as well. And one final point. It is time, it is, in fact, past time to actually sell the Thompson Center in Chicago without any extra fees or charges tacked on. These moves – many of which have been supported by the General Assembly in prior years – can alleviate a $1.3 billion annual burden on our taxpayers, and release money we can then spend on education, public safety, human services, and infrastructure in Fiscal Year 19. Now, I know this idea that we're putting forth of reforms to stimulate growth, it goes against Illinois traditional budget approach – the one where you decide what to buy, and then buy it even if it means spending beyond your means. The Fiscal Year 18 budget, which you enacted last July over my veto, is running a huge deficit right now that proves the point. Unbalanced budgets, this unbalanced budget, that we're currently working in, was built on the back of a $4.5 billion income tax increase, $6 billion in long-term debt, and a still increasing backlog of unpaid bills that's expected to be at $7.7 billion by the end of this fiscal year. Our approach, the approach we're recommended, is decidedly different. We see the budget as an opportunity to set priorities without spending beyond our means. It is a framework designed to spark a constructive dialogue on the steps we need to take to resolve the state's financial issues. Our mission is straightforward: Enact reforms, be accountable, deliver on our promises. Our goals align with the needs of our citizens: Provide the best education on earth for our children; ensure justice and equality for the deserving but disadvantaged; share compassion for our veterans, the elderly, our most vulnerable; provide security for our communities; and maintain and improve our streets and bridges. Our guiding principle is this: Only spend money we have, and don't increase the tax burden on the people of Illinois. The bottom line is this: We need reforms. We need to shift accountability so that we can put more resources into education, human services, public safety, and infrastructure. That's where our Fiscal Year 19 budget is focused. That's the outcome we want to produce. Our administration is an emphatic advocate for education investment. By enacting structural reforms, we will be able to spend a record $8.3 billion on preK-12 education. That includes $350 million of new money distributed through our more equitable new funding formula. PreK-12 funding has risen a cumulative $3.7 billion since I took office. We also will spend $454 million for early childhood education, up 55 percent since I became governor. This investment is critical to our future. The work world around us evolves as technology advances. The skills needed to succeed in our economy are dramatically different than they were just a decade ago. Our own manufacturing sector is a perfect example. Where once there were get-your-hands-dirty assembly line jobs, workers must now be equipped to use computer-directed equipment, manage software to track inventory, and build intricate high-tech products. Our obligation to our next generation is to prepare them by the millions to fully participate in the workforce of the future. The bipartisan effort we produced last year to bring equity to our school funding formula was a key step. And the new Invest in Kids Program that expanded education choices for tens of thousands of students. It's a great step forward. Our Cabinet on Children and Youth helps children reach their 25th birthdays as engaged, educated, self-sufficient citizens with marketable skills for a meaningful career. Now, we must make higher education a critical priority, too. Illinois public university enrollment declined by more than 50,000 students from 1991 to 2014 as tuition and fees increased. Our budget conflicts in recent years haven't helped that trend. This year we bring an end to budget reductions for our university and community college systems. We add $100 million in capital funds to meet deferred maintenance needs. We maintain MAP grants at FY18 levels, but we lay the foundation for increased MAP funding in the future. We also recommend a capital grant to the University of Illinois for its Illinois Innovation Network and Discovery Partners Institute. This grant will leverage billions of dollars in private donations to the U of I and spur enterprise formation that will make us the envy of the technology centers on the East coast and the West coast. This capital investment could well be the biggest spark ever to ignite our economic growth engine. The Illinois Board of Higher Education is developing a single, statewide strategic plan to make academic offerings more attractive to students, and drive more efficiency in service offerings. We look forward to the results of their work. Compassion is in the DNA of Illinois. Our budget mirrors this fundamental attribute. With reforms to our pension and group health programs, we can provide resources for veterans, families, children, the elderly, the sick, and the ailing. This week, despite aggressive precautions and new water treatment systems, Legionella bacteria has infected two more patients at the Quincy Veterans

Home. Early detection led to successful treatment, but the infections send a clear message. We need to have money. We need to move quickly to make structural changes to the facilities themselves to ensure protection for our veterans. Our water management task force met yesterday to begin a review of an engineering report on the home's water systems. We've allocated $50 million in capital improvements to be prepared to address their recommendations for Legionella control. To further help our veterans, we need to move forward as well and complete the long-delayed construction of a new 200-bed veteran's home in Chicago. We expect to spend $1 billion on child care assistance for families with incomes up to 185 percent of the federal poverty level. We will also increase funds for early intervention programs and developmental disabilities services. Our budget addresses a necessary commitment to our elder population. We maintain funding levels for programs that serve 62,000 Community Care Program clients, and provide adult protection and in-home services. We're shifting clients to Managed Care Organizations administered by Healthcare and Family Services with no change in services, but big savings in cost. When it comes to children and youth, we have improved a fragmented system that wasted money, and too often failed to help young people become successful adults. In the Department of Children and Family Services, the Fiscal Year 19 budget adds staff for Intact Family Services, to help deal with cases that present the highest risks for young children. DCFS has redesigned the adoption subsidy process. There was a 16 percent increase in adoptions and a 31 percent increase in guardianships in Fiscal Year 2017. That means nearly 2,200 children left state care and found homes last year. We've had an unacceptably high number of youth confined to psychiatric hospitals, to juvenile detention, to emergency shelters. And we're working hard to lower those populations and help those young people get better services. The principles of reform and accountability guide our approach to Medicaid as well. We've made significant structural changes in this program, most notably a more thoughtful shift to managed care, a move that will save taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars in the years ahead, and help us hold providers accountable for the quality of the care they deliver. Medicaid enrollment has slowed in recent years, but it still serves nearly one-quarter of our population – about 3.1 million people. That number will stay essentially flat in Fiscal Year 19, and we have budgeted $14.2 billion to provide care for eligible patients. This takes into account more than $450 million that our task force has saved, so far, through fraud detection and prevention. We have also developed a comprehensive strategy to address behavioral health. It transforms payment and delivery models, increases managed care, enhances workforce capacity and establishes greater accountability. We're working closely with the Federal Government to get approval on a Section 1115 waiver application that will let us more efficiently and more effectively treat our 800,000 Medicaid enrollees who suffer with mental health and behavioral health problems. Criminal justice reform is a priority for our administration. Structural reforms mean we can devote more resources to the people and programs that protect us from those who would do us harm. Two more Illinois State Police cadet classes will graduate this year, and the budget anticipates another class in Fiscal Year 19. That means up to 300 more State Troopers on the force, working to keep people safe. Our budget addresses the opioid epidemic, fully funding programs that enhance enforcement and addiction recovery. Some 28,000 offenders are released into our communities every year. But nearly half return to prison within three years. These rates of recidivism are just too high. Jobs are a key antidote to the challenge. So, we've allotted $26.4 million for the operation of life skills job training re-entry centers in Kewanee and Murphysboro, to help people get back to work instead of going back to prison. We will spend $36.4 million for mental health facilities at Joliet and Elgin, which will supplement the three residential treatment units at Pontiac, Logan, and Dixon. The Fiscal Year 19 budget provides $10.2 million for Adult Redeploy Illinois to promote community-based supervision. There is also $110 million in federal funds allocated to reduce crime, and help victims get the services they need. For the fourth year in a row, we will deliver more capital for infrastructure projects. Our budget provides $2.2 billion in pay-as-you-go funds for the Department of Transportation's annual road program. Additionally, we will provide $511 million in new capital funds for other IDOT needs in Fiscal Year 19. That brings total new transportation infrastructure spending by our administration since 2016 to nearly $10 billion. We should finalize private investment in infrastructure improvements, like the I-55 managed-lane project, where private investors are willing to invest hundreds of millions of dollars to build and manage new and improved highways. Our administration has been actively engaged in conversations over the last year with the White House and with the U.S. Department of Transportation about an infrastructure program. As the plan announced this week works its way through Congress, we will work closely with our Illinois Congressional delegation to maximize the return on Illinois' investments in our infrastructure. All along we've been clear about the necessity to meet critical public needs with the resources available to us. The surest way to do that is to enact reforms that bend the cost curve of government down, and stimulate our economy to bring new jobs to Illinois. The key to balanced budgets is to have our economy grow faster than our government spending. I vetoed the Fiscal Year 18 budget because it was unbalanced, because it did not provide reforms needed to end deficits, and achieve balanced budgets and to sustain economic growth. Unfortunately, I was right in that veto. We were forced to spend more than $1 billion to meet obligations set into law prior, but were under-appropriated in the budget that was passed. Now, you need to pass a supplemental spending Bill to cover these costs. This sort of budget shortfall underscores the urgency of our circumstances. We simply have to slow the growth of government spending and grow our economy faster. Higher tax rates can never fix this structural necessity. Our Fiscal Year 19 proposal asks you to engage with us to make sensible, long-overdue reforms, to shift control to the people who pay the bills. Move pension and health care costs where they belong. Most importantly, give local governments the tools to cut costs. Reduce workers' comp rates. Sell the Thompson Center. These savings will produce a surplus to put against our bill backlog. Better yet, they will energize our economy. If you work with me to take the next logical step and pass true pension reform, we will be able to enact a nearly $1 billion tax cut, and start rolling back the income tax rate. Let's face it: Middle class wage earners and young mobile workers, for them the pension crisis is not about the politics that are played in Springfield. It's about how much money we're taking out of their pockets. The people of Illinois are taxed out. A billion-dollar income tax cut should be our #1 objective by the end of this Session. Together, let's learn from our past. Let's talk honestly about the future, move ahead, and make Illinoisans the big winners. Our budget proposal is a framework that balances the interests of those who spend our taxes with those who pay the taxes. It balances the need for reform with the time we need to implement it, and it produces the tools we need to reduce the associated costs. We're ready to collaborate on reforms that benefit the taxpayers of Illinois. Our ideas are here for you to consider. We share a sense of urgency with you and every citizen of our state. We welcome a call to the table for serious conversations together about how to proceed. Our intent, in this week of Lincoln's birthday, is to heed his admonition: The leading rule is diligence. Leave nothing for tomorrow which can be done today. This is the essence of Illinois' work ethic, the essence of our value system. Let's do this budget. Let's fix our system. Let's give fiscal integrity to our people. Let's roll back the tax hike, and give power and
