Senate Joint Resolution 53 is the adjournment resolution. When we close business today, it will call upon us to return to Springfield next Tuesday at the hour of noon. Next Tuesday at noon. In the meantime, the Calendar does not reflect the fact that the Executive Committee is scheduled to meet at two o'clock in Room 212. Two o'clock this afternoon in 212

PRESIDING OFFICER: (SENATOR BRUCE)

Well, Senator Lemke...Senator Lemke, in reviewing the rules...may I have your attention, please. There may be some interested parties. Senator Lemke has sought leave of the Senate to cancel the Judiciary Committee scheduled for two o'clock this afternoon. Under the rules of the Senate, that committee is scheduled for a hearing this afternoon, Senator Lemke, and I believe the only way that that meeting can be cancelled is with the...the leave of the Senate. Is there leave to cancel that meeting? I hear objection, Senator

Lenke. You, obviously, can...can adjourn the meeting with a requisite number of members when the meeting is...is convened. Senator Lenke.

SENATOR LEMKE:

Of course, under Robert's Rule, we can convene...the way that...that it reads, it starts after Session. So, when the chairman gets there, we'll start the meeting. That might be next Tuesday.

PRESIDING OFFICER: (SENATOR BRUCE)

Well, Senator Lenke, under our rules it says at the time and place designated. And so, once a quorum is there, I believe that the committee can conduct business. Senator Sangmeister.

SENATOR SANGMEISTER:

Well, I don't want to get this into a hairy mess, but under...you know, there's a lot of bills that are important to a lot of people and to the people of the State of Illinois to be heard. In light of that statement, I now move that he be removed as chairman of Judiciary I for the purpose of this hearing this afternoon.

PRESIDING OFFICER: (SENATOR BRUCE)

Alright. Well, Senator, I believe that the Committee on Committees would make that determination as to the...alright. Senator D'Arco.

I just conferred with Leroy and we are going to have a meeting.

PRESIDING OFFICER: (SENATOR BRUCE)

Alright. Senator Geo-Karis, for what purpose do you arise?
